

YOUR FUTURE IMPACT

1

Use cargo bike couriers for your deliveries

Getting your deliveries by bicycle helps to reduce congestion, improve air quality and can even result in more reliable delivery times.

If you want to find out about more cargo bike couriers operating in London or detail around costs from the project, please reach out to Ross Phillips, CRP Sustainable Transport Manager - rossphillips@crossriverpartnership.org.

Use Brixton's new delivery locker

CRP and Delivering London are installing a new delivery locker in Brixton as part of the funding for this project. These delivery lockers can be used by many suppliers and couriers, so look out for this option when you are asked for your delivery options!

Delivery lockers can reduce emissions by reducing the number of stops a vehicle makes along a journey by delivering in more consolidated consignments.

For more information, please email CRP Senior Project Officer Isidora Rivera Vollmer - isidorariveravollmer@crossriverpartnership.org.

3 Collaborate with your neighbours

You could collaborate with your neighbours or other businesses that have participated on this project to set up group-buying schemes, share warehouse or storage space, book cargo bike journeys or share electric vehicle trips to reduce costs.

CRP would be happy to share any information about the above ideas or costs involved in the project so please reach out to Ross Phillips for more information - rossphillips@crossriverpartnership.org.

4 Try out other cargo bike services

Still unsure about whether cargo bike couriers are for you? Why not check out CRP's Business Cargo Bike Guide, which is the ultimate resource that will inform you on all things cargo bikes, from courier services, buying your own bike, case studies, and shared cargo bike services:

There are four shared cargo bikes available to rent within a short walk from Brixton and you can hire them out by the hour! This means you can easily make short trips and many will be available to use for free for the first couple of hours. The map shows the Our Bike locations around Brixton.

If you want to find out about more about shared cargo bike services around Brixton, please reach out to Ross Phillips - rossphillips@crossriverpartnership.org.
