Healthy Streets Everyday II hosts European Visitors

Earlier this month CRP partnered with Transport for London \(TfL\) to host a site visit to key projects as part of TfL's International Air Quality workshops.

CRP welcomed delegates from Berlin, Barcelona and Brussels, as well as organisations including EIT Urban Mobility, C40 cities and the Greater London Authority. Attendees had a fantastic day touring two flagship initiatives delivered through CRP's Healthy Streets Everyday II \(HSE II\) programme and funded by the Mayor's Air Quality Fund.

This included visiting Hercules Road where CRP worked with We Are Waterloo and the South Bank BID. The group then saw two School Streets sites in the Kennington Oval area, where London Borough of Lambeth is building on its School Streets scheme under HSE II.

Both visits showcased to delegates how CRP works with partners, including BIDs, local authorities and the Mayor of London, to address the issue of air quality!

CRP Team Away Day

Last week, the CRP team stepped away from the usual routine to take part in a Team Away Day. This acted as an opportunity to reflect, recharge, and reimagine how we work together.

The day was designed to spark fresh thinking and foster deeper collaboration and together. We explored Innovating Communication, Reviewing Ways of Working, Reflecting on Individual Skills and Qualities and Embracing AI.

And to round things off, we got creative with a fun wellbeing activity: painting plant pots inspired by what we love about our local green spaces.

A brilliant day spent connecting, collaborating, and reflecting!

Cleaner Classrooms, Healthier Futures: £2.7 Million Boost to Improve Air Quality in London Schools

Thousands of London pupils will soon enjoy fresher air in their classrooms, thanks to a new £2.7 million project from the Mayor of London. The scheme will bring special air filters to at least 200 schools across the city, helping protect children from harmful pollution.

Air pollution can affect children's lungs, health, and even how well they learn. Research from City Hall found that classrooms using these filters had up to 68% less pollution than those without. Filters will be rolled out first in schools in areas with the poorest air quality.

This project is part of a wider effort to make London a greener, healthier city for everyone. Read more about the Mayor's announcement here.
