CRP Begins New E-Bike Assessment Project with GSTT

CRP is excited to start a new project with Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust evaluating how e-bikes are supporting their clinical teams. The Trust introduced e-bikes to help staff travel to patients' homes more efficiently, reduce emissions and give colleagues a healthier, more enjoyable way to move between visits. Our work will help the Trust understand the benefits so far and identify practical opportunities to strengthen and expand the initiative.

Collaboration & Co-Design Campaign & Walk This May for National Walking Month

Bridging Sectors to Drive Change Across London

Throughout Spring, CRP have been busy developing campaigns showing all of the excellent work that our Healthy Streets Everyday II partners are doing, as part of our Mayor's Air Quality Funded programme.

Late March saw the release of our Collaboration & Co-Design campaign, showcasing ways that our HSE II partners have worked with communities to create greener, safer and more vibrant places for walking, cycling, wheeling and scooting.

At Cross River Partnership (CRP), we believe solving London's complex environmental challenges requires "unusual" partnerships. By bringing together sectors that rarely share a table, we are unlocking innovative solutions for transport, health, and climate resilience.

Do you have a project that needs a fresh perspective or an "unusual" partner? We are always looking for new ways to collaborate.

Reach out to the CRP team to explore how we can work together.

Driving Circular Economy Action in London Bridge

Cross River Partnership (CRP) is delighted to highlight the inspiring circular economy work being led by our partner Team London Bridge, which is helping local businesses reduce waste and unlock value through collaboration.

As part of their Towards Zero Waste strategy, Team London Bridge is championing a practical, place-based approach to circularity that focuses on reuse, redistribution and keeping materials in use for longer.

Team London Bridge has also celebrated circular innovation through its Sustainability Awards, showcasing reuse and resource efficiency across sectors including healthcare, retail, construction and transport.

Team London Bridge are now embarking on a place-based circular economy action plan for London Bridge.
